

Development Initiatives has created this statement because we take your privacy and our data seriously. The statement sets out who we are, what information we collect from you, and how we use it as well as clarifying use of data in our products.

Development Initiatives is a company that produces and analyses data from a range of sources to inform the debate about poverty eradication. We collect analytical information during your use of our website and services as you use and navigate them.

If you provide us with personal information (your name, postal address, telephone, fax, or email address), or have done so in the past via our websites, our publications or surveys, we may use that information to send you updates on our latest services and promotions or to contact you so that we may learn more about you.

You can choose to opt out of these communications . To opt out of our email newsletter, please click the 'unsubscribe' link at the foot of the email in question. For other mailings please contact us at info@devinit.org and we will remove your name from our mailing list.

We may use your data to collate and create an information database of visitors to our website in order to improve our website and our service and to provide relevant services and information to you. We will not share any aggregated information or individual data with third parties without your permission.

Retention of personal information

We will retain your information for such period as we are legally obliged to keep it or for the period necessary for the purposes for which the data was collected or for which it is to be further processed, whichever is the longer.

User of third party data on our site

Due to the nature of our work we often cite other organisations' data and work. While we make every effort to ensure this is correct we cannot guarantee its accuracy in all cases. We accept no responsibility or liability for such information.

Links to other websites

Our website may contain links to enable you to visit other websites of interest easily. However, once you have used these links to leave our site, you should note that we do not have any control over that other website. Therefore, we cannot be responsible for the protection and privacy of any information which you provide whilst visiting such sites and such sites are not governed by this privacy policy. We accept no responsibility or liability for such other websites. You should exercise caution when entering personal information online and look at the privacy statement applicable to the website in question.

Controlling your personal information and opt out

You may choose to restrict the collection or use of your personal information in the following ways:

- To opt out of any email communications from us, please click the 'unsubscribe' link at the foot of the email in question.
- If you have previously agreed to us holding or using your personal information for direct marketing purposes, you may change your mind at any time by writing to or emailing us at info@devinit.org
- You may request details of personal information which we hold about you under the Data Protection Act 1998. A small administration fee will be payable. If you would like a copy of the information held on you please write to Development Initiatives, North Quay House, Quay Side, Temple Back, Bristol, BS1 6FL

Changes to this statement

Development Initiatives' privacy statement is subject to change at any time. We will post changes to this statement on our websites prior to implementing any major changes.

Last modified: June, 2013

Contact

If you have any questions about this statement please contact us:

Development Initiatives,

North Quay House,

Quay Side,

Temple Back,

Bristol, BS1 6FL

T: +44 (0) 1179 272 505

E: info@devinit.org

Websites

Development Initiatives currently operates the following websites:

- www.devinit.org
- www.globalhumanitarianassistance.org
- www.aidinfo.org
- www.commit4africa.org
- www.chartingprogress.org